

1. WebSportsFeed is a web application where users can browse and search statistics for specified players and teams.

Search bar: type your input here ("Stephen Curry", "Lakers", teams, standing, player). The name of a team or player is not case-sensitive.

The screenshot shows the homepage of the Sports Feed web application. At the top left is a search bar with placeholder text "Ex: Stephen Curry" and a green "Search" button. To the right are "Home" and "About" buttons. Below the search bar is the "Sports Feed" logo. The main content area features a large "Welcome to Sports Feed!" heading, a short Lorem ipsum text, and two buttons: "Find your player" (green) and "Find your team" (blue). On the right side, the NBA logo is prominently displayed.

2-1. Choose "Find your player" and you can see a list of top 30 impact players based on our weighting formula.

The screenshot shows the "Impact Players List" page. At the top center is the heading "Impact Players List" and a sub-instruction "Choose one from the list of stars". Below are "Home" and "Team" buttons. The main content is a grid of five NBA player cards, each featuring a portrait and the player's name: Russell Westbrook, James Harden, LeBron James, Isaiah Thomas, and Stephen Curry.
